PRINTING CHARACTERISTICS

Screen Printing: Is the process for smaller quantities and the best quality image. Screened images are very sharp and crisp with good ink opacity. One disadvantage is that multiple color imprints must be printed and re-registered one imprint at a time making it more costly than offset printing. Multi color registration may have a variation of approximately 1/16".

Offset Printing: Is an economical way of printing larger quantities. Offset printing provides multi-color and tight registration artwork as it lays all of the colors down in one pass. Cups are available up to 4 imprint colors. Cup color must be either white or natural (clear). Offset printing is available as one side, two sided, or wrap. Registration may have a variation of approximately 1/32". Quality of offset printing is excellent; however, ink coverage is thinner than screen printing resulting in an imprint which may look transparent, especially on clear items. Do not expect the same clarity and opacity of print as screen printing. Please request random samples or product proofs if this is a concern.

PRINTING DISCLAIMERS

Email Proof: Emailed black and white proof showing imprint size. No charge.

Product Color: For product colors please see Timberwolf Product PMS color sheet. Due to printing and computer monitor limitations we cannot be held liable for variations in color. If color is important please consult a PMS chart or request a random sample of the product color.

Scuffs & Scratches: It is the nature of plastic to scuff and scratch during stacking and shipping. Clear and dark colored plastics show this the most.
